Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 10 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold at first but turning slowly milder into Monday.

Today:
A cold and frosty start with some fog patches. Cloud increasing during the morning with occasional outbreaks of rain possible in the north. Largely dry elsewhere with a chance of a few brighter spells. Slightly milder. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:
A few clearer spells during the evening with increasing cloud overnight. Remaining largely dry through the night with a rural frost. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Monday:
Cloud thickening during the morning bringing milder temperatures and outbreaks of heavy rain by lunchtime. A wet and breezy afternoon follows. Skies clearing overnight and becoming colder with a frost. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Dry and colder on Tuesday, with sunshine and lighter winds. Cloudy with outbreaks of heavy rain on Wednesday and feeling milder. Turning drier on Thursday with sunny spells.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.